Rutland Well Balanced Industrially.

What with its numerous women's wear employing women labor. Indeed, if there whatever. employing women labor. Indeed, if there whatever.

When we consider that the 740,000 BAILEY'S MUSIC ROOMS this city giving employment to skilled mechanics those of them with adult females in their family would find ample facilities here for their employment.

The ideal conditions in any community are to have the facilities for employing labor of both sexes evenly balanced. The town in which there are foundries and machine shops exclusively furnishing occupation for men, is not well balanced, neither is the community in which there are factories giving employment only to female operatives. The more diversified the manufactur ing interests of the community, the safer is its industrial position. The only manufacturing communities that are at all in danger are those in which all eggs are carried in one basket. The town with simply one big manufacturing plant suffers when there is stagnation in that particular line of business, and in almost every line there are periodically times of depression. Few towns are so fortunately situated in this respect as is Rutland, with its greatly diversified indusoperatives. Nevertheless, there is plenty of room should be nothing but the warmest welcome for any new concern that is seek ing a desirable location for its plant. It is gratifying to know that at the presen time there are several institutions which have Rutland in prospect as their scene of activity.-Rutland News.

Urges More Pay for Rutland Teachers.

Rutland, in common with all other communities, faces the necessity of in-creasing the salaries of teachers. The local board of education purposes to meet the situation, in a measure, by slightly advancing its schedule for the coming year. Nevertheless, we must make up our minds to pay still higher salaries if teachers of the highest grade of preparation are secured.

Other cities no larger than Rutland are paying their school teachers more liberal salaries, and the competition must be met face to face. Plenty of teachers are available at the salaries which have ruled here or even at smaller salaries, but the quality of talent commanded is not what this community deserves.

Teachers resident in Rutland naturally can be secured at smaller salaries than those who live elsewhere, but to a greater or less extent is it necessary and de sirable to engage teachers from other An advantage accrues by reason of the broader experience, the introduction of ideas and methods in vogue elsewhere. A school system, with a person nel of teachers exclusively local, might easily become stale and stagnant. New blood, new ideas, new methods must be infused into the school life in order to keep up the most healthy circulation.

Furthermore, it is not quite fair to take advantage of local residents in such matters. If a teacher from the outside is worth, say, $800 a year, there is no reason why a Rutland teacher of equal ability and experience should be asked to do the work for $700. The laborer is worthy of his hire, particularly in the instruction of the oncoming generations. Parsimony in such matters is very poor economy.-Rutland News.

Her two daughters are der there are 30,000 teachers in the United States who have had no schooling beyond the eighth grammar grade. Small wonder, indeed, that 7,000,000 of our school children are being trained by factories, Rutland may be said to be teachers, mere boys and girls themselves, specially well equipped with industries who have had no professional education teachers of America are paid an average salary of $630 a year; when, moreover, we consider the fact that living costs have actually advanced 103 per cent since the beginning of the war, thereby cutting the buying power of those insignificant salaries in half, we can easily determine that only a fool or a martyr would choose teaching as a profession, or would long remain in it unless these terrible conditions were swiftly remedied.

The teachers ask no largess at the hands of fortune. They enter their profession for service, not riches. But they invest years and money in preparation for their life work, and the knowledge they gain is shared with others wh themselves, use it to their own profit. Teachers, then, by every right and in all ustice, expect a return that will permit them and their dependents to live decently and in comfort. Let each community invest in schools so that it may thereby invest in a trained manhood and womanhood that can play their part in the great period of rebuild ing and reconstruction that lies before us. Let each community set for its goal employing men operatives and wemen as far as practicable, a minimum wage of at least $1,000 a year for the teachers here for additional factories and there of America. This would cost the nation perhaps as much as we spent so glorously in but one week of the great war -Literary Digest.

A parade, in which 2,000 participated, marched through the streets, starting at the armory at 2 p. m. In the line were the Bellows Falls band, the Brattleboro band, all the civic and fraternal orders, labor unions, fire department and floats representing business houses. Col. P. H Hadley was marshal and Capt. C. C. Collins and Lieut. T. J. Brickley, who saw service overseas were aids. Co. M of the Vermont volunteer militia did escort duty for the nearly 200 men in the line wearing the uniform. Maj. W. H. Mun-sell led the band of about 30 overseas veterans. After the parade the two bands gave a concert in the square, an entertainment was given on a specially prepared platform by acrobats and blackface artists from Boston. Judge T. E.
